

History of the Spalding County Fire Department

In September, 1978, Clarence H. Sanders was hired as Spalding County's first Fire Chief. On May 29, 1979, the Spalding County Fire Department assumed the fire protection responsibilities for all unincorporated areas of Spalding County, including the towns of Orchard Hill and Sunnyside, Georgia.

Chief Sanders designed the department patch.